

If actions took the place of words, the world's misery would very soon be changed into comfort